

2nd Danube Conference on Epigenetics

Budapest,
5-8 October, 2016

Call for exhibition
and sponsorship

Invitation

Following the success of the previous Epigenetic Conferences in Budapest (2012 and 2014) we are delighted to announce that the next Danube Conference on Epigenetics will be held October 5-8th, 2016 again in Budapest. The conference is organized by Petra Hajkova (MRC Clinical Sciences Centre and Imperial College London, UK), Ana Pombo (Max Delbrück Centre, Germany), Laszlo Tora (IGBMC, France), Tamás Arányi (RCNS, Hungary) and Bálint L. Bálint (University of Debrecen, Hungary).

It is our pleasure to invite you to participate at this conference to be a sponsor of the event. After the plenary lecture on 5th October 2016 at the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, the conference will continue with six sessions on the following 3 days at the Research Center for Natural Sciences. The sessions focusing on epigenomics are outlined below:

1. Single-cell epigenetics
2. Chromatin architecture
3. Transcriptional regulation and epigenetics
4. Epigenetics and metabolism
5. Developmental epigenetics
6. Transgenerational inheritance

The main objectives are to bring scientists together from these fields of epigenetics and promote their intensive interdisciplinary interactions facilitated by the medium sized meeting. Therefore the conference program is structured to have a lot of networking opportunity. Another main objective is to give a large space for a new generation of European researchers in order to give a new dynamism to the entire field. We expect to have 150 participants including 20 outstanding invited lecturers (list of confirmed speakers including the EMBO Keynote Lecture can be found overleaf) with a majority of ERC grantee and EMBO members. More than half of all participants are expected to be non-Hungarian Europeans while half of the participants are expected to be PIs/senior researchers. The conference website can be found here: <http://danube-epigenetics.org/>

I sincerely hope that you will find this invitation interesting and will decide to participate.

Yours truly,

Tamás Arányi, MD, PhD
